

Hey!

TAKE A CLOSER LOOK!

Pack a lot of punch into less time with these mini-lessons on asking and answering questions!

Why?

Asking Questions Mini Lessons

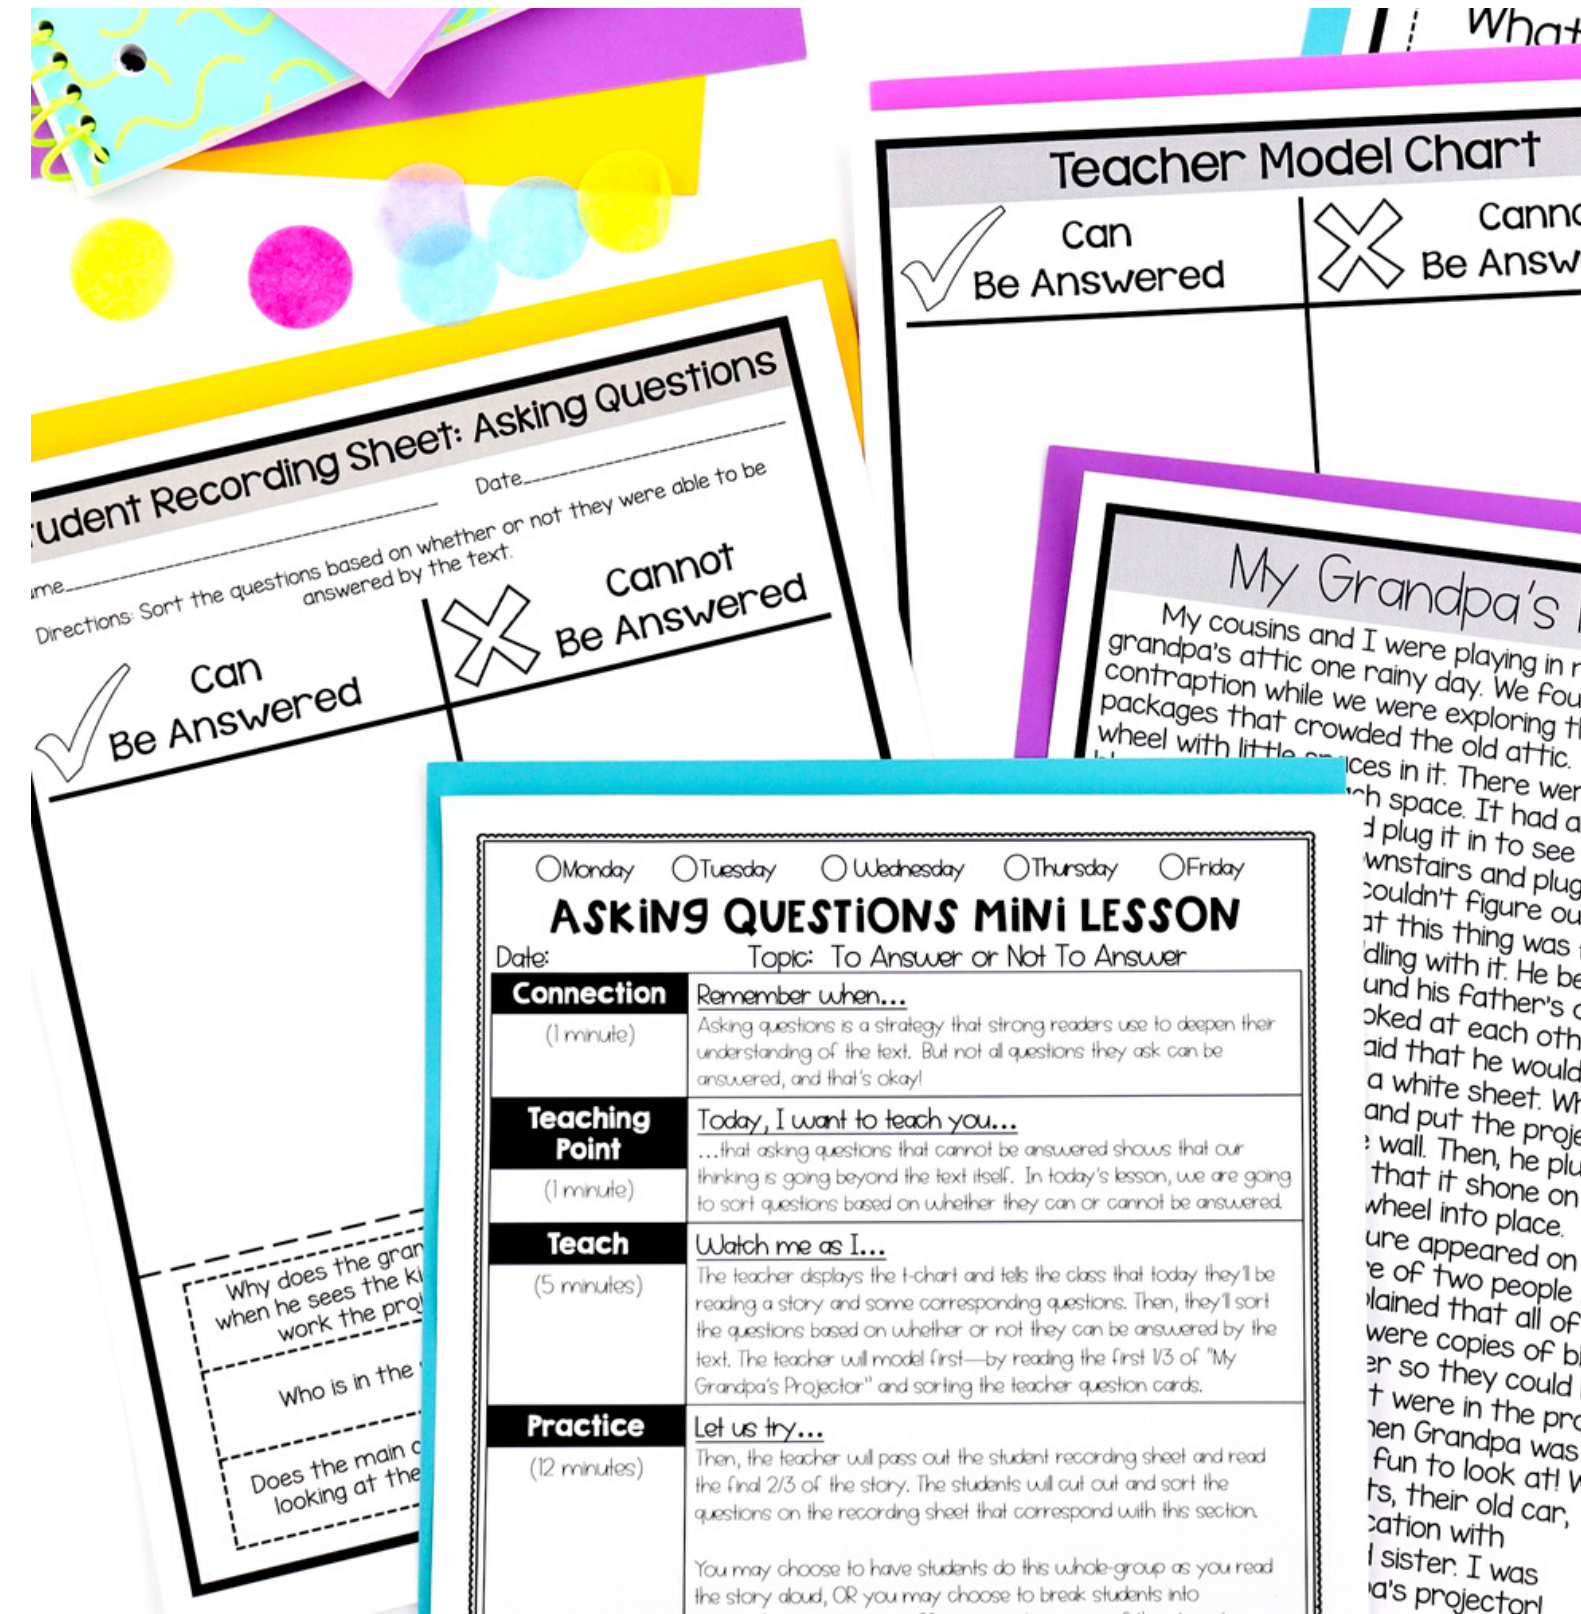

Very little prep for the teacher!
Everything you need, ready to go!

Students get excellent practice with 5 different lessons aimed at teaching one specific skill or strategy!

Makes for great whole group lessons,
or strategic small group lessons!

Resource Includes

- 5 succinct mini lessons that follow the official mini lesson outline of: connection, teaching point, teach, practice, and link
- Supplemental materials, including original texts, teacher modeling pages, student practice pages/activity cards for every lesson, anchor charts, graphic organizers, teacher prompting suggestions, and answer keys!
- Digital student pages

“ A MUST HAVE FOR EVERY CLASSROOM! ”

The image displays a collection of educational resources. On the left, there are five overlapping 'ASKING QUESTIONS MINI LESSON' worksheets. Each worksheet includes a date selector (Monday-Friday), a connection, a teaching point, a teach section, a practice section, and a link. The topics for these lessons are: 'To Answer or Not To Answer', 'Why do we ask questions?', 'Different Types of Questions for BDA', 'Turning Thin Questions to Thick', and 'I have the answer, you ask the question'. On the right, there is a 'How Do Emergency Workers Find Your House?' text page with a 'Family Pictures' sidebar. Below the text page is a large anchor chart titled 'THIN vs THICK Questions'. The chart explains that 'THIN Questions' are answered directly in the text, while 'THICK Questions' require the reader to use their own schema and combine it with the text. The chart lists various question types for both categories and includes a cartoon character of a girl with a backpack.

A GREAT WAY TO TEACH WITH INTENTION!

Keep everyone engaged and make the most of your time!

Lessons follow an effective formula for maximizing instruction!

Great for whole group or small group lessons! Plenty of detail to help you save time or leave for a substitute or an aide!

TEACHER STORY QUESTION CARDS

What is...
How does the projector work?
Why does the main character...
... is

Teacher Model Chart
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Can Be Answered	<input type="checkbox"/> Cannot Be Answered

My Grandpa's Projector

My cousins and I were playing in my grandma and grandpa's attic one rainy day. We found a funny-looking contraption while we were exploring the old boxes, trunks, and packages that crowded the old attic. This machine looked like a wheel with little...
... in it. There were little black and white, ... space. It had a plug, so we decided to ... plug it in to see how it worked.
... downstairs and plugged it in, a light shone ... couldn't figure out how to get the wheel ... at this thing was for! Then, my grandpa ... dling with it. He began to laugh and laugh. ... and his father's old projector.
... looked at each other. What on Earth was ... aid that he would show us. He told us ... a white sheet. When we brought it to ... and put the projector on a table ... wall. Then he ...

Wednesday Thursday Friday

STIONS MINI LESSON

To Answer or Not To Answer

When...

... is a strategy that strong readers use to deepen their ... of the text. But not all questions they ask can be ... and that's okay!

Want to teach you...

... questions that cannot be answered shows that our