

ENDANGERED ANIMALS

Animals are considered to be endangered when they are at risk of becoming extinct, which means that there are no more of them left. Animals become extinct for a varier many animals are endangered or have become human activities. It is important to know what so that we can be aware of how our actions a populations.

Animals sometimes become extinct because Species may become extinct because of change competition with other species, or a reduced for changes in climate and a reduced food supply or by human activities like pollution or deforestate

Many species have been hunted to extinction where they are endangered. Animals that live conspecially can be easily hunted to extinction. Neway of getting to the island to help repopulate. The arrival of just a few additional people can coisland species.

Often, animals are hunted for food. However, hunted for their body parts like fur, feathers, body parts can be worth a lot of money. For ealephants were hunted for their ivory horns. The decreased drastically as people hunted for values.

One of the main threats to animals today habitat. This comes from the expansion of hun agriculture and building. As areas of land are for the natural habitats of animals are destroyed.

Pollution from humans can make species endangered or extinct, as well. Sewage and runcan poison the water. Air pollution pollutes the When one species becomes extinct, other species can die off as well. This causes problems throughout the ecosystem.

Olivraniums leading 2022

OUR FAMILY PICTURES

The extended Collins family was going to get their family pictures taken one sunny Saturday. The Collins grandparents were coming, along with their children, in-laws, and all of the Collins cousins. They knew that it was going to be a chaotic, but fun dayl

use of

Melissa Collins was dreading family picture day. She had recently lost a tooth and her cousin Alan kept calling her a jack-ollantern. She and Alan were born within a month of one another and often fought like siblings.

Melissa wasn't in the mood for Alan's teasing today of all days. Not only did she have a missing tooth, but she had gotten a bad grade on an exam the previous day and woke up with a headache. It was going to be a challenge to smile for the family pictures and look awake.

Meanwhile, Alan was feeling regretful that he had teased Melissa. Alan was the youngest of five brothers, and his older brothers picked on him relentlessly at home. Sometimes he felt so angry at his brothers that the only way to make himself feel better was to pick on someone else, and Melissa was an easy target.

When they all arrived at the picture site, Melissa and Alan's Aunt Cynthia noticed right away that something was amiss. Melissa's face looked like a thundercloud. Alan looked like he was ready to burst into tears. Aunt Cynthia knew that sometimes Alan and Melissa had trouble getting along and decided to intervene

She pulled the kids aside before the pictures were taken and talked to them. She heard what the problem was and encouraged Melissa to accept Alan's apology. The kids resolved to get along better in the future, and Aunt Cynthia promised to help them. The family pictures turned out great, and everyone felt much happier!

oked around as they nissing her mother, d lonely. She didn't know if riding in a carriage, and cited that she didn't even

Elizabeth loved dogs and was delighted when, on her 9th birthday, her parents gave her an adorable Corgi named Lily Elizabeth took Lily all around the castle to show the dog her new home.

While they explored the castle, Elizabeth talked to Lily about all of the fun things that they would do together. She chattered

about playing ball on the lawn, going for rides in the royal carriage and letting Lilv sit at her feet during dinner in the royal dining oked sad. She bent down abeth guessed what was asked her if she was? Lily missed her family. I understood and informed him that a beat, the King went back ther and 8 brothers and by had enough room for with Target author & character perspective with these leveled comprehension passages and questions!

Comprehension Passages

- Very little prep for the teacher!

  Just choose a level, print, and GO!
- Cold reads are a great way to assess true comprehension--and these passages were all written with a specific skill focus!
- Makes for great: differentiated homework, small group work, whole group teaching, reading centers, reading warm ups, and more!

Resource Julies

- 5 one-page passages, all written to specifically support the skill or strategy being assessed
- Each passage comes in 3 different reading levels: below, on, and above grade level, with 3rd grade being "on grade level"
- All reading levels are anonymous on the text itself, using symbols to differentiate
- Each passage comes with a set of comprehension questions, with a variety of question styles. Answer keys included.
- Every file in digital form!

Melissa Collins was not looking
She had just lost a tooth. Her collocations
She had just lost a tooth Her collocations
She and Alan had been fought like brothers and sisters of Melissa wasn't in the mood for missing tooth. She had gotten a before. She also woke up with a like hard to smile for the family pictu Alan was feeling bad that he h youngest of five brothers. His old the time at home Sometimes he

OUR FAMILY PICTURES

The whole Collins family was going to get their family pictures taken one sunny Saturday. The Collins grandparents were coming, along with their children, in-laws, and all of the Collins cousins. They knew that it was going to be a busy but fun day!

Melissa Collins was not looking forward to family picture day. She had recently lost a tooth and her cousin Alan kept calling her a jack-o-lantern. She and Alan had been born one month apart

he mood for Alan's teasing today of all

OUR FAMILY PICTURES

The extended Collins family was going to get their family pictures taken one sunny Saturday. The Collins grandparents were coming, along with their children, in-laws, and all of the Collins cousins. They knew that it was going to be a chaotic, but fun do cousins. They knew that it was going to be a chaotic, but fun do cousins.

Melissa Collins was dreading family picture day, one had recently lost a tooth and her cousin Alan kept calling her a jack lantern. She and Alan were born within a month of one another and often fought like siblings.

Melissa wasn't in the mood for Alan's teasing today of all Not only did she have a missing tooth, but she had gotten at Not only did she have a missing tooth, but she had gotten at Not only did she have a missing tooth, but she had gotten at Not only did she have a missing tooth, but she had gotten at No. 1 that he had tease look awake.

Meanwhile, Alan was feeling regretful that he had tease Melissa. Alan was the youngest of five brothers, and his ok brothers picked on him relentlessly at home. Sometimes hangry at his brothers that the only way to make himself angry at his brothers that the only way to make himself better was to pick on someone else, and Melissa was an eltarget

When they all arrived at the picture site, Melissa and When they all arrived at the picture site, Melissa and Aunt Cynthia noticed right away that something was an Melissa's face looked like a thundercloud. Alan looked like Melissa's face looked like a thundercloud. Alan looked like ready to burst into tears. Aunt Cynthia knew that som alan and Melissa had trouble getting along and decided intervene.

She pulled the kids aside before the pictures were taken and talked to them.

ADDRESS COMPREHENSION SKILLS & STRATEGIES AT ALL LEVELS!

melted

her vpe is iuse of

nical

ENDANGERED ANIMALS

ns were some of the first items to be recycled on a regula

Animals are considered to be endangered when they are at risk becoming extinct, which means that there are n hem left. Animals become extinct for a varie many animals are endangered or have become numan activities. It is important to know what o that we can be aware of how our actions of Animals sometimes become extinct becau Species may become extinct because of chang competition with other species, or a reduced f changes in climate and a reduced food supply of by human activities like pollution or deforestat

Many species have been hunted to extinctive where they are endangered. Animals that live o especially can be easily hunted to extinction. Ne way of getting to the island to help repopulate The arrival of just a few additional people can Often, animals are hunted for food. However nunted for their body parts like fur, feathers, oody parts can be worth a lot of money. For e elephants were hunted for their ivory horns. The decreased drastically as people hunted for valu

One of the main threats to animals today abitat. This comes from the expansion of hun agriculture and building. As areas of land are fo he natural habitats of animals are destroyed.

Pollution from humans can make species endangered or extinct, as well. Sewage and runcan poison the water. Air pollution pollutes the o When one species becomes extinct, other specie can die off as well. This causes problems nroughout the ecosystem.

OUR FAMILY PICTURES

The extended Collins family was going to get their family pictures taken one sunny Saturday. The Collins grandparents were coming, along with their children, in-laws, and all of the Collins cousins. They knew that it was going to be a chaotic, but fun day!

Melissa Collins was dreading family picture day. She had recently lost a tooth and her cousin Alan kept calling her a jack-oantern. She and Alan were born within a month of one another and often fought like siblings.

Melissa wasn't in the mood for Alan's teasing today of all days Not only did she have a missing tooth, but she had gotten a bad grade on an exam the previous day and woke up with a headache. t was going to be a challenge to smile for the family pictures and

Meanwhile, Alan was feeling regretful that he had teased Melissa. Alan was the youngest of five brothers, and his older orothers picked on him relentlessly at home. Sometimes he felt so angry at his brothers that the only way to make himself feel better was to pick on someone else, and Melissa was an easy

When they all arrived at the picture site, Melissa and Alan's Aunt Cynthia noticed right away that something was amiss. Melissa's face looked like a thundercloud. Alan looked like he was ready to burst into tears. Aunt Cynthia knew that sometimes Alan and Melissa had trouble getting along and decided to

She pulled the kids aside before the pictures were taken and talked to them. She heard what the problem was and encouraged Melissa to accept Alan's apology. The kids resolved to get along better in the future, and Aunt Cynthia promised to help them. The family

oked around as they nissing her mother, d lonely. She didn't know if riding in a carriage, and cited that she didn't ever

Elizabeth loved dogs and was delighted when, on her 9th birthday, her parents gave her an adorable Corgi named Lily. Elizabeth took

all of the fun things that they would do together. She chattered

about playing ball on the lawn, going for rides in the royal carriage and letting Lily sit at her feet during dinner in the royal dining

While they explored the castle, Elizabeth talked to Lily about

Lily all around the castle to show the dog her new home.

aked sad She bent down ibeth guessed what was asked her if she was Lily missed her family. understood ng and informed him that a beat, the King went back ther and 8 brothers and By had enough room for Passages specifically designed to assess or practice a skill!

A variety of fiction and nonfiction passages, written with high interest topics in mind!!